Description

The session will be a poster presentation of projects in which the theme of gender balancing has been dealt with, in line with the Gender Equality plan in R&I - H2020 - "Science with and for Society" work program.

It is expected that the projects shown will go from the more concise treatment to the systematic implementation of the Gender Equality Plan.

Contents

In order to encourage the recognition of similar projects and therefore with the objective that the projects presented can be understood as best practices, an overview of the project (topic, national / European call through which it was financed, resources in terms of budget, instrumentation and months / person required for the development of the project itself) is required.

With reference to the subject of gender balancing, the focus should be on:

- identification of potential critical issues;
- articulation of operational solutions to overcome the critical issues encountered (it is appropriate to highlight in this phase also possible action tools - structures / stakeholders / cultural organizations - reference that have supported the operational aspects);
- ex-post evaluation of the impacts (quantitative, also the possibility to access specific incentives for the promotion of gender and qualitative equity) also through synthetic indicators.
